(R) 123

Q: The European press has reported that the U.S. and New Zealand are negotiating a sale of U.S. butter to New Zealand at a price well below the world market price and that this butter will eventually go to the U.S.S.R. Do you have any comment?

A: The question of how to dispose of the Commodity Credit Corporation's surplus butter stock is under interagency review. There has been no final decision.
